

MIER

“New York – NADA New York at Basketball City on Pier 36, May 5th – 8th, 2016”

Art Observed

May 7th, 2016

NADA has returned to its now familiar haunt at the Basketball City sports complex at Pier 36, continuing its more relaxed counterpoint to the proceedings at Frieze just a short ferry ride up the East River. The fair, which is now in its fifth year, has continued to pioneer its own take on early May’s bustling selection of shows and exhibitions, and continued its strong performance this year with a roster of 105 Galleries and a diverse selection of works on display.

Jan Ole Schiemann at MIER Gallery, via Art Observed

The fair’s colorful selections this year, and variation between studied digital compositions and more loosely flowing pieces, gave the overall offering a remarkably cohesive flow, a note that once again underlines NADA’s continued appeal in contrast to the immense scale of the fair uptown.